Friends of Creamer's Field is a non-profit, operating on the State of Alaska Creamer's Field Migratory Waterfowl Refuge, and our mission is to "inspire environmental stewardship and lifelong learning through experience, awareness and appreciation of the natural and historical resources of Creamers Field Migratory Waterfowl Refuge." We do this through providing educational and interpretation programs year round to the Fairbanks community and visitors to the Fairbanks community with one full-time staff member, a part time staff member, and about sixty volunteers. We also provide free guided nature walks year round. Our programs inform people about their environment and the animals and plants in that environment, as well as encourage people to get outdoors and enjoy nature, which has an impact on both their physical and mental wellness.

Although we are given office space and some program support (some materials and the use of the ADFG educators) from Alaska Department of Fish and Game, we receive no money from any government source for our activities, and are totally reliant on donations, grants and a small amount of visitor center sales to support our mission. With budget cuts to ADFG, in the future we will be receiving even less program support from ADFG, making the Co-op Market Lend A Hand program even more important to us.

We are requesting to be considered for the Co-op Market Lend-A-Hand program in 2017. Donations will be used to fund our community outreach programs, our community education programs, our guided nature walks, and other activities happening on the Refuge. All monies received would go towards supporting the Friends of Creamer's Field mission of inspiring environmental stewardship and lifelong learning.

Sincerely,

Christine Huff
