RESPONSIBILITIES OF BOARD DIRECTORS

In general, members of a co-op board of directors have the same duties as the directors of any business. In addition, co-op boards must act on behalf of the cooperative's Owners (as fiduciaries), meaning that individual directors have to balance individual interests, business interests, and member interests when making decisions. To do this, board members must be able to:

- Uphold fiduciary duty on behalf of Co-op Market Grocery & Deli Owners. (Note: Directors are covered by management liability insurance provided by the co-op).
- Exercise due diligence in monitoring Co-op Market's financial condition
- Abide by all items contained in the Statement of Agreement (attached below), which includes the Code of Ethics, Code of Conduct, and Conflict of Interest policy.
- Maintain confidentiality when required.
- Faithfully honor all legal obligations that come with directorship, which include:

Duty of Care: Make informed decisions in good faith; act as a prudent person; use a good process for decision making; be honest; ensure adequate record keeping.

Duty of Loyalty: Always act in the best interest of the cooperative; disclose and avoid conflicts of interest; engage in no self-dealing; maintain confidentiality.

Duty of Attention/Diligence: Attend meetings; participate in discussions; be prepared; review materials; ask questions; know and adhere to state laws and co-op bylaws; support board decisions and policies; honor contracts; ensure payment of all tax obligations.

POLICY GOVERNANCE

The Co-op Market Grocery & Deli Board of Directors operates using the Policy Governance* model, which was developed to allow boards to maintain accountability for organizational performance while focusing on providing visionary leadership around our 'big-picture' mission. With the recognition that delegation is a significant component of our accountability, the board maintains written documentation of expectations for ourselves, our organization and our general manager. Our policies are the primary vehicle for recording these expectations, and they are monitored on a regular basis.

The relevance of this methodology stems from (1) the fact that a significant volume of information is required to fulfill our fiduciary duties; (2) the need to delegate authority in order to accomplish our organizational purpose; (3) the desire to ensure that our Owners and stakeholders are well served by organizational accomplishments.

The Policy Governance model is designed to allow the board to delegate with great clarity by completing three steps:

1. Expressing the expectations of the job being delegated.
2. Assigning the expectations with no ambiguity to the party who is to be held accountable for meeting them.
3. Checking that expectations were met.

We have four general categories of policies that express our expectations for ends to be achieved and the acceptable means by which to achieve them.

A: Ends

Ends policies broadly state the desired organizational outcomes. They describe the ongoing priorities of what should be achieved and for whom. The general manager is responsible for reporting on compliance with these policies.

B: Board Process

The board process policies describe how the board is organized and its process and products. The board evaluates its compliance with these policies throughout the year.

C: Governance-Management Connection

These board-GM policies describe how the board delegates duties and responsibilities to the general manager. The board evaluates its compliance with these policies throughout the year.

D: Executive Limitations

The Executive Limitations delineate job expectations and acceptable constraints within which the general manager can act. The general manager develops a written report for the board on each of these policies on a regular basis throughout the year, and the board evaluates whether the interpretation was reasonable and makes conclusions about whether the GM is in compliance. If it is determined that management is not in compliance with our policies, the board discusses the reasons for this result and establishes parameters and expectations for achieving compliance within a set time frame. The board may require additional monitoring of the policy (on a more frequent basis) or even conclude that the policy needs to be revised.

Our approach to crafting policies is to begin with broad statements regarding allowable and prohibited behavior, and make increasingly specific policies. For example, a policy that prohibits the general manager from violating the law provides a concise statement of expectation (and is a lot easier than trying to think of and then write down a list of all the illegal actions which could be undertaken!). A more specific policy might require that a certain level of insurance be carried to protect Co-op Market's property.

We limit the level of detail in our written policies to that which is required for the board to accept any reasonable interpretation of those policies. This approach allows for the maximum flexibility and creativity within clearly established boundaries and provides a system for delegation and accountability. (It helps also to have a manageable amount of policies – it would be much more difficult to monitor 200 pages of detailed policies! Furthermore, it keeps us out of the micro-managing realm so that we can focus on the big picture questions.)

The advantages of using the Policy Governance model are:

- It enables the board to focus on the future and provide high-level organizational leadership rather than focusing on day-to-day operational issues. (After all, if the board does not provide this type of leadership, who else could?)
- By deciding on the larger issues about ends and means the board can maintain meaningful control of the organization while allowing others to decide on smaller issues.

- The board can delegate genuine authority to others without failing in its own accountability – the parameters of delegated authority are clearly established by the board, allowing for decisive leadership by others.
- Regular assessment of compliance with policy provides a systematic method for evaluating organizational performance because the board knows what to look for.
- The board and its subordinates (e.g. its committees, the general manager) know what is required of them because expectations are clearly articulated. Since the design of jobs has already been decided, the board can distinguish the proper course of action when confronted by questions without having to spend time defining the nature of governance itself.

The Board of Directors exists for the sole purpose of ensuring, on behalf of our (legal and moral) Owners, that the organization performs as it should. We must constantly evaluate our purpose (what transformation we want to occur for people and even the world outside of our organization) and our Ends (the accomplishments that justify our existence). This brings us to the most important question: What difference does having Co-op Market in the world make to you?

 The Policy Governance methodology was developed by John Carver as a means to structure board process to allow for board accountability on a meaningful level and empower the board to lead their organizations at the highest level. Carver's website address is www.carvergovernance.com.*

ELECTION AND TERMS

Candidates who receive the highest number of votes for their particular seat shall be deemed the winner. In the event a candidate withdraws before an election is certified, the candidate with the next highest vote count shall be declared winner for that seat. In a tie, the candidates shall draw lots, in a manner determined by the board chair, to determine the winner.

Directors shall be elected for a term of three (3) years and shall serve until their successors have been elected or appointed. Directors shall serve staggered terms such that approximately one-third (1/3) of the board is elected each year. If a director resigns or is removed before his or her term expires, the board shall appoint a replacement director by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors to serve the balance of the term for the vacant position. Such appointment shall be subject to vote of confirmation by the membership at the next annual meeting if an annual meeting occurs before the end of the unexpired term (Bylaws, 2017, Article 6c).

Each board seat has been assigned a letter, A-I, to which a set election schedule is set. There are three election cycles: A, B, and C; D, E, and F; and G, H, and I. Upon election, a director will be assigned a letter that will adhere for the duration of his or her service on the board.

BOARD RESIGNATIONS

Resignations require a majority vote for approval. The co-op invests in director training, and in the case of resignation before the term ends, the co-op reserves the right to require repayment of costs incurred from director training. This includes travel costs and training fees.

The board recommends full compliance with bylaws and that the director stays on the board until the seat has an appointment or the term has ended.

BOARD APPOINTMENTS

If a sitting Board member resigns, the board will follow the procedures outlined below.

1. All discussions regarding board member replacements occur in executive session.
2. The main objective is to appoint and fill the open position. There are three possible paths to take to accomplish the appointment:
 - a. The board may choose to hear and consider nominations from directors. Occasionally, appointments may be made from a vetted list left over from an election or an appointment to a committee. In this case a motion is made and voted on.
 - b. The board can choose to put the open position up for a challenge amongst interested co-op Owners. It is the purview of the Board Development Committee to administer this process. The procedure is as follows:
 - i. The open position interviews will be announced to the Ownership by posting on the main bulletin board inside the market, email, and social media announcements.
 - ii. Candidates will submit a Board Candidate Application to Customer Service within the time frame specified by the Board Development Committee.
 - iii. The Board Development Committee will vet the applications, interview the candidates, and form a list.
 - iv. From the list, the Board Development Committee will come up with a recommendation to present at the board's next monthly meeting. The board will discuss and vote on the recommendation. The board shall appoint a replacement director by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors to serve the balance of the term for the vacant position (Bylaws, 2017, Article 6c).
 - v. The Board Development Committee will inform all candidates on the list of the election result the following day.
 - c. The board may choose not to fill the position and instead wait for the next election. As stated above, the preference is to fill an open position.
3. The appointment shall be subject to vote of confirmation by the membership at the next annual meeting if an annual meeting occurs before the end of the unexpired term (Bylaws, 2017, Article 6c).

STATEMENT OF AGREEMENT: ETHICS, CODE OF CONDUCT, CONFLICTS OF INTEREST, DISCLOSURE

CODE OF ETHICS

The Board of Directors of Co-op Market Grocery & Deli adopts the following Code of Ethics to clarify any uncertainty regarding the authority of the board or the individual directors. This Code of Ethics is proposed to create greater unanimity and closer coordination between and among directors, management and employees.

To that end, we the directors of the Co-op Market Grocery & Deli agree that:

- The board's authority is limited to overseeing the affairs of the cooperative in a manner deemed beneficial to the cooperative as a whole. To do this, we employ a general manager to be responsible for the overall and day-to-day management of the business under the direction of the board and work with management to set the future direction of the co-op. We are also responsible for carrying out other duties as provided by the bylaws or by general or specific corporate laws.
- Each director's authority is equal only to the rights and authority of any individual Owner of the cooperative except when the board is in formal meeting. No individual director may take action on behalf of the cooperative alone unless explicitly delegated that authority by action of the board, and no individual director has any particular rights to information not made available to all directors.
- The authority of the manager, as approved by the board in the general manager's job description, is to manage the affairs of the cooperative. The manager shall employ, supervise and discharge all employees, agents and laborers and engage in all negotiations and discussions on behalf of the cooperative as necessary and/or directed by the board.
- While directors may disagree with a policy approved by or action taken by the majority of the board, they will support that policy or action as being the considered judgment of the board. An individual director shall have the right to present further evidence and argument to the board for further consideration in a manner consistent with the board's practices. The board shall have the duty to reconsider its actions appropriately.
- All directors will maintain confidentiality as needed to protect the co-op's interests and financial viability. This means that all directors shall not discuss disputed or confidential corporate actions, policies or issues with the co-op's Owners, employees or the general public unless all directors agree that such information is no longer confidential. All issues related to personnel, real estate, market strategy and goals, pending litigation, and details of the co-op's financial status will be considered sensitive issues subject to confidentiality unless or until full disclosure is approved by the board as a whole.

Directors serve as representatives of the cooperative. We shall conduct ourselves in a professional manner that fosters confidence and reflects positively on the co-op, its Owners, and its staff. We respect the rights of others – directors, staff and Owners – to communicate their ideas free from interruption and without intimidation.
